VOLUME XXXI NO. 68 SEYMOUR, INDIANA, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1912. PRICE TWO CENTS

FIGHT IS OVER FOR BURRELL

Ex-banker Will Be Brought Back To Brownstown To Face Charges.

LEAVES OKLAHOMA TODAY

In Charge of Attorney McAdam. Will Reach Brownstown Saturday Morning.

The long fight is over and Hugh Burrell is coming back to Jackson county to face trial for wrecking the Brownstown State Bank.

Ten days ago when the judge of the Federal court in Oklahoma ruled against Burrell in his habeas corpus proceedings and ruled against him on every point in his last move to prevent extradition to Indiana, the defendant was given until today to perfect and file an appeal. The first of the week Burrell's attorneys gave out the information that the defendant would not take the appeal but would yield to the inevitable and return to Indiana. His long struggle had exhausted his resources and those who had stood by him so long were unable to furnish further aid. As a consequence he was unable to meet the expense of an appeal and it had been furthermore recognized at last by the defense that a continuation of the struggle which had been carried on for so many months to prevent extradition was useless and hopeless.

Money was telegraphed from Brownstown Tuesday afternoon to pay the expense of bringing Burrell back and also to pay the expense incurred by the state in keeping the prisoner in jail since the 10th of last April since which date he has been in the custody of the sheriff of Oklahoma county.

The plan is for Attorney McAdam to leave for Indiana with the prisoner at 4:40 this afternoon and this will enable them to reach Brownstown on No. 4 Saturday morning. The understanding is that Burrell's friends at Brownstown have already arranged to furnish bond for him. It is the opinion that the latter will probably be about $2000.

Burrell, upon his return to the town where he was once so prominent and influential, will doubtless be greeted by a large crowd as great interest in his coming is being manifested in Brownstown and vicinity.

Charity Market.

There will be a market given by the charity board, next Saturday, Feb. 17, in the Seymour Public Service Company's rooms on South Chestnut street. Since the winter has been so severe and as there are several sick families to be taken care of, we are compelled to have more funds—hence the market. We hope everyone will patronize our market. It means little to you, but so much to some one who is out of coal and fuel. Market will be open at 1:00 p. m. The following articles will be on sale: fresh bread, coffee cake, rolls, doughnuts, dressed chicken, baked beans, hominy, cake and cookies. f16d

Dill pickles, buck wheat flour, fresh oysters, sweet potatoes, kale and lettuce at Teckemeyer's. f16d

DIED.

WILLIAMSON—Mrs. Arabelle Williamson died at 4 o'clock this morning at her home at the corner of Carter and Laurel streets where she owned a grocery. She had been in poor health for some time but her condition had not been considered dangerous. The immediate cause of her death was pneumonia and heart trouble.

Mrs. Williamson was born in Pennsylvania July 28, 1850. She was married to Thomas Williamson in 1872; he died suddenly August 28, 1910. For many years after her marriage she lived at Lancaster, coming to Seymour two years ago. Of the eight children born to her five are living, Roy, William and Mack Williamson and Mrs. Ernest Peters of this city and Mrs. Morton Corye of Noblesville. Two daughters died a numbers of years ago and one son, John, was killed in a B. & O. wreck in September, 1896. Four step-children who live in neighboring counties, and five grandchildren also survive her.

Mrs. Wlliamson was a member of the First M. E. church of Seymour.

A short funeral service will be held at the house at 8 o'clock Saturday morning and the body will be taken on No. 4 to Deputy. From the latter place the funeral party will drive to Lick Branch cemetery in Jefferson county for the burial.

WELLS:—Mrs. Lydia Wells, one of the oldest women in Jennings county, died Wednesday evening of pneumonia fever at the home of Miss Flo Wells with whom she lived. Mrs. Wells was past 85 years of age and had spent most of her life at the old home place where she died.

Two grandchildren, Miss Flo Wells and Clyde Wells, and one sister, Mrs. Cordelia Downs of Port Arthur, Wis., survive.

The funeral services will be held from the residence Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock. The remains will be taken to Hayden for burial.

Tuberculosis Statistics.

The death rates per 100,000 population from tuberculosis in the state of Indiana and its principal cities in 1910 are given in Mortality Bulletin 109 issued recently by Director Durand of the Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce and Labor.

The figures cover tuberculosis of the lungs, including acute miliary tuberculosis, also tuberculosis meningitis, and other forms of tuberculosis.

The death rate per 100,000 population for the state was 174.2. For the cities the rates were: Anderson, 155.4; East Chicago, 92.6; Elkart 98.1; Elwood, 182.0; Evansville, 196.1; Fort Wayne, 161.8; Gary, 77.4; Hammond, 137.4; Huntington, 204.2; Indianapolis, 223.6; Jeffersonville, 297.9; Kokomo, 216.1; Lafayette, 188.9; Laporte, 103.8; Logansport, 167.4; Marion, 180.6; Michigan City, 193.6; Mishawaka, 66.5; Muncie, 228.7; New Albany, 382.9; Peru, 192.4; Richmond, 218.7; South Bend, 185.1; Terre Haute, 176.5; Vincennes, 320.3.

Judge Montgomery Mentioned.

George W. Stout in a political article in the Indianapolis Star regarding the coming Republican conventions for the selection of national delegates says:

The convention in the Fourth is to be held either March 21 or March 25, the place not being settled as yet. The call will be sent out in a day or two. The Taft forces say Judge O. H. Montgomery of Seymour and Web Woodfill of Greensburg are in the race as administration adherents.

Home Talent Minstrel.

The Eagles are rehearsing for a home talent minstrel entertainment to be given at the Majestic, Thursday evening, April 18.

This lodge gave a similar entertainment about four years ago at which time they pleased a large audience.

Tickets are now being sold. Seymour aerie has a membership of over two hundred.

A "Tacky" Party.

The members of the Knights and Ladies of Security had a jolly time at their hall Wednesday evening at a "Tacky Party." The majority attended the party dressed in tacky costumes and among the latter were some of a very comic character.

During the evening a luncheon was served.

"The Flower of The Ranch"

The brightest and most sparkling of all the Howard successes, "The Flower of the Ranch," is coming to the Majestic tomorrow night. Song hits have been streaming for years from Mr. Howard's fountain pen, and his name has always appeared in bold type in connection with "The Time, The Place and The Girl," "The Golden Girl," "A Stubborn Cinderella," "Miss Nobody From Starland," and a score of other successful musical plays. The stage settings are typical of the California days way back in the 49's. A vein of comedy flows through the entire performance which holds the audience, while a score of musical numbers and Howard song hits afford the theatregoer two hours of laughter. Pretty girls are essential to musical comedy, fascinating men are demanded; good, wholesome comedy is the chief requisite, and this latest Howard success has them all.

CASES FILED IN CIRCUIT COURT

Francis M. Howard is Suing the I. C. & S. Company For $5,000 Damages.

FOR INJURIES HE RECEIVED

In Alighting From Car.—Suit On Contract.—Other Cases of Interest.

Francis M. Howard of this city has filed suit against the I. C. & S. Traction Company for $5,000 damages for injuries which he sustained last October and for which he charges the company is responsible. In the complaint filed Howard gives his age as 67 and says that at the Seymour station Oct. 13 he helped his daughter and her small children aboard a car and then went into the car to carry their baggage. The car started and he was unable to get off and he alleges the conductor refused to stop but said they would stop at the crossing; they would stop at the crossing; thinking he meant the next street crossing Howard went out on the steps. When the car slowed up at the East Second street curve Howard was preparing to jump off when a sudden jerk by the car threw him violently to the ground injuring him so severely that he has since found it necessary to use crutches. His body and legs were badly bruised it is stated.

Edward B. Bernard is suing Thomas E. Fisher et al for $500 damages for failure to comply with a contract by which, the plaintiff asserts, the defendants were to trade him 80 acres of Salt Creek township land for the equipment of a barber shop in Hartford City. The plaintiff alleges a written contract for the trade was made but the defendants have failed to fulfill their part of the agreement.

Eliza Allman is suing Alexander Allman of this city for support of herself and their children. Her complaint alleges that he deserted her last December after twenty-seven years of married life. He works in a local factory and receives $7.50 a week. She demands $5 a week for the support of herself and the children.

Sallie A. Plummer has filed suit against Ellis Burcham and wife to annul contract and quiet title to 48½ acres of land in Owen township. She claims that the defendants have failed to carry out their part of a contract made in 1906 by which, in consideration of the plaintiff deeding the land mentioned to the defendants they were to care for her during her life, pay her doctor bills and funeral expenses and care for a horse, buggy and cow which she was to keep for her own use.

APPEAL FOR HELP

In Locating Young Man Supposed To Be in This Section.

The Republican has received from Rev. M. G. Coleman, pastor of the First M. E. Church of Hoopeston, Ill., a communication earnestly appealing for help from all in finding his son, Paul Coleman who mysteriously disappeared from the Ohio Military Institute at College Hill, Ohio the night of Jan 20, and who is supposed to be somewhere in southern Indiana. Rev. Coleman, who is a Mason and Odd Fellow, asks that the young man be watched for and that he be given work or help until he can be reached by those hunting for him. He was last seen Feb. 8 going south on the Madison pike near Versailles. The description given of him says:

He will be 16 years of age Feb. 25. Height, about 5 feet 8 inches, weight about 135 pounds, brown hair, blue eyes, light complexion, and has a very slight coal scar on left side of chin. When last seen he wore a light brown khaki military shirt and trousers with maroon sweater under the shirt and gray military trousers under the khaki trousers, black and white check cap and black gauntlet gloves.

ASH WEDNESDAY

And The Lenten Season Will Be Observed by Catholics.

The Lenten season will begin next Wednesday, Feb. 21 and will continue for 40 days ending Easter Saturday. February 21 is designated as Ash Wednesday by the Catholic church and will be observed in Seymour as elsewhere. The ashes will be blessed preceding the celebration of mass Wednesday morning and will be distributed by the officiating priest, who will mark the sign of a cross on the foreheads of all who go to receive it in token of the inevitable return to dust and the fleeting character of life. During the Lenten season amusements will be refrained from and there will be abstinence from some foods. The use of meats during this season are especially restricted.

FACTORY MEETINGS

Prove Interesting and Profitable Form of Service.

The noon meetings which the German M. E. Church has been holding this week have proved very profitable. Tuesday and today meetings were held at the Woolen Mill and Wednesday at the Greeman factory. The meetings are conducted by Rev. E. Werner, who is assisting in the meetings at the German M. E. church this week. The employes in the factories return early from their dinner and gather for the meeting. The first woolen mill meeting proved so interesting that Mr. Werner was invited to return for another today.

Dear Sisters:

We appeal to you for help in the Woman's Campaign for ballots. We are sending out this explanation in reply to inquiries concerning Chas. Scanlon of Pennsylvania, who was nominated yesterday. He is known to our people as standing for all reforms advocated by our organizations. His name is a household word in Prohibition and Church circles. He is an educator of national reputation, and he was sent last year by the United States Government as one of our representatives to the World's Anti-Alcohol Congress at the Hague. He is the General Secretary of the Temperance Board of the Presbyterian Church of America under direction of their General Assembly. He is also field Secretary of the National Church Federation, representing sixteen of the largest Protestant Churches in the United States.

If you desire to vote for this American Prohibitionist, write has name on the ballot below the printed list of candidates selected by the Star. The vote will be counted and will popularize both Woman Suffrage and State-wide Prohibition. We urge our women to vote for the candidate of their own choice for President, collect ballots from neighbors and news stands! Get men to help! Urge all women to vote, for this is our greatest opportunity to prove that Indiana women want "the ballot for the King's business."

Observe carefully the following rules and let us work to win.

1. Address all ballots and communications to Woman's Vote Committee, Indianapolis Star, Indianapolis, Ind.

2. Only one vote from each woman will be counted.

3. Make cross in space to left of candidate's name in designating your vote.

4. Sign name and address in space provided on ballots. Your name will not be made public unless permission is given.

5. Candidates may be proposed by inserting names in blank space provided on ballots.

What of the Dead?

Past, Present and Future.

Evangelist Watkins will speak tonight on this subject. You are invited.

Last night a large audience heard the sermon on Faith, based on the story of Paul's shipwreck when he assured the passengers that he had been told by the Lord that none of them would be lost. "Be of good cheer, for I believe God," he said. During the sermon Mr. Watkins to illustrate God's gift of salvation. Mr. Watkins offered a watch to anyone in the audience who would come to the platform and get it. He repeated the offer several times before anybody went after the watch. He bought and paid for the watch yesterday for the purpose of giving it away. Then he said, God paid for the plan of salvation with the life of his Son, Jesus Christ. He offers this salvation free to everyone who will accept it. Many say they believe God will save them but do not act on it, just as many in the audience said they believed they would receive the watch, but only one person acted on the belief. God offers salvation to everyone who will accept it, but only the person who reaches up by the hand of faith to take the promised gift will receive it. It was a forcible illustration and will be remembered in its application for years by those who heard it.

There were five confessions at the close of the service last night.

Come tonight; hear the Gospel preached by Evangelist Watkins. The big chorus choir will lead the singing again.

PRAYER

By Rev. William Evans, Director Bible Course, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT.—Lord, teach us to pray.—And He said unto them, When ye pray, say, Our Father.—Luke 11: 1, 2.

No subject can be of greater importance to the Christian than that of prayer. It is the Christian's vital breath. His spiritual nature can no more live without prayer than his physical nature can live without breathing. "Let me breathe or I die," says man; "let me pray or I die," says the Christian. Prayer is the native air of the child of God.

What Is Prayer?

Prayer has been defined as "An offering up of our desires unto God for things agreeable to his will, in the name of Christ, with the confession of our sins and thankful acknowledgment of his mercies." Yet prayer is more than this; it is a dialogue, not a monologue; it is a vision as well as a voice; it is a revelation as well as a supplication. Prayer is not a mere venture and a voice of mine, but a vision and a voice divine.

In the heart of every one prayer is a sense of need, but a sense of need is not prayer. Prayer is asking for a felt need and asking God, not the universe, for it. Prayer is more than an asking, it is a receiving, a hearing, a learning of God, a converse and communion in which he has much to say and we have much to hear and learn.

The day in which we live is so full of possibilities that an intelligent man will not consider anything impossible. Years ago Morse was considered a fool because he asserted the possibility of communication between Washington and New York. Likewise Marconi was laughed at when he first advocated the idea of wireless telegraphy. Time and experience, however, have proven that these men were wise and not foolish.

Prayer is made possible to the Christian because of the revelation Christ has brought to the world, of the Father. It is only when we understand the true nature of God that prayer becomes possible. This revelation is brought to us only through Christ's interpretation of God. The god of science and philosophy does not furnish any incentive to pray. Bain, the scientist, describes the god of science as a double-faced something—mind and force—which lie behind all natural phenomena.

God Is Called Father.

It is a remarkable thing to notice in almost every instance in the New Testament that when God is referred to in connection with prayer he is called Father. This in itself is an encouragement to prayer, as well as indicating that prayer is a possibility. It is expected that a child will ask its father for things it would not ask a stranger for. The fatherhood of God is not only a motive to prayer, but at the same time a thought which makes prayer both desirable and possible.

Do I find it hard to do as some people tell me—namely, "to pray all night"—let me not be discouraged, but remember that "like as a father" God deals with his children. I do not ask of my own child that he agonize all night when presenting to me a request. But you may say, "I am not sure that I obey properly." I reply, "Like as a father." Does an earthly parent not grant his child any petition until he properly obeys? "Like as a father." But, you say, "I do not understand God." Who does? Shall a father not grant a child's request until he is understood by the child? Then the child's request will never be granted. "Like as a father pitieth his children, so the Lord pitieth them that fear him."

But the Father to whom we are to pray is an almighty Father, one who is absolutely sovereign and omnipotent. There are no difficulties with God, and we must always remember that "More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of." Whatever may be our opinion of the unchangeableness of God's laws, we must never forget that every promise made to the prayerful soul shall be fulfilled by a sovereign God, even though ten thousand of what we call unchangeable laws need to be (so called) broken.

Is it not true that we ourselves break laws to supply the needs of our own children? If my little child is dying of a burning fever in the middle of August and calls for ice when the temperature registers 100 degree, if I know enough I can make ice, even though the temperature stands at 100, and answer the prayer of my child. If my boy is falling from a third story window, and hearing his affrighted call I rush to his help and catch him ere he touches the ground I not only save his life, but I break what may be called an unchangeable law—namely, the law of gravitation. So may we believe all things are possible with God.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

ADDITION.

Life is largely a process of simple addition.

The fact that two and two are four is a tremendous fact.

Suppose you try to make two and two three. You go to the poorhouse. Or to make two and two five. You go to the penitentiary.

Simple, you say?

Suppose you want to build up a fortune.

You must begin with addition. It is simple at first. But after you have added awhile you can begin to multiply. And that goes faster.

One time one is one, but a hundred times one is a hundred. It is the testimony of all men who have succeeded in making money that the first thousand dollars is the hardest to get. That thousand is the foundation, the first layer, of the pyramid. It is easier to build thereafter, because addition is slow and multiplication is rapid.

It is so of building character.

It is difficult at first because you are laying the foundation by a layer of right actions. Add up these right actions and you develop a habit. And habit multiplies. By and by you acquire a momentum in habit that carries you on.

It is the old Scripture story of doubling the talent.

Or like the rolling snowball.

But you must add up the right sort of things. If you try to add up merely your ancestry, your family, your social position, etc., you will soon find that your birthright will not necessarily make character.

Moreover—

Birthright and position will not count in the world's estimate. It may please your pride, but if you try to parade it you will become ridiculous.

Begin with simple addition.

Add up slowly that which you have really acquired of and by and for yourself. Like the snowball, the sum will be small at first, but it will grow. Two and two are four, but two times four are eight.

Begin at the beginning.

Most persons try to begin with multiplication rather than with simple addition.

Most persons want to put the capstone on the pyramid without first laying the foundation and adding to the superstructure.

First learn how to add.

After that multiplication will come easy.

THE GENTLE CYNIC.

Lots of golden opportunities won't stand the acid test.

No woman is a pessimist so long as she has a looking glass.

The greatness that is thrust upon a man usually goes to his head.

There is only one thing that causes more misery than liquor, and that is thirst.

The theatrical manager isn't the only person who spends his money to make a show.

Many a man who is willing to stake his reputation isn't playing for very high stakes, at that.

Many a man doesn't know one drink from another. He makes a wry face when he drinks Scotch.

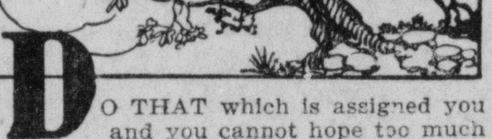
There seems to be a difference between putting your soul into a thing and putting your foot in it.

Some matches may be made in heaven, but most of them seem to be made by the girl's mother.

The average small boy's appetite would seem to indicate that he is really larger than he looks from the outside.

When her child is in danger a woman will risk her life to protect it. No great act of heroism or risk of life is necessary to protect a child from croup. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and all danger is avoided. For sale by all dealers.

The KITCHEN CABINET



DO THAT which is assigned you and you cannot hope too much or dare too much. —Emerson.

Fame is the scentless sunflower,
  With the gaudy crown of gold;
But friendship is the breathing rose,
  With sweets in every fold.
—Oliver W. Holmes.

COOKERY REVIEWS.

Here are a few savory mouthfuls to be served on different occasions:

Take a good rich pastry, puff paste is the best, but the plain will do nicely. Cut in three-inch squares and put on each some cooked chicken, minced olives seasoned with butter and lemon juice. Use only a bit of the filling, fold over paste, pinch tight and bake. The nice things about these "bon bouches" is that so many different kinds of filling may be used, almost anything in the meat line. Ham shaved or chopped and mixed with finely sliced pickle; salmon and sour cucumber pickles chopped, and a little lemon juice or vinegar; roast mutton minced and mixed with currant jelly.

For a change and an appetizing sandwich filling, scrape a well-flavored apple, mix with French dressing which has been mixed with two tablespoonfuls of olive oil, a dash of salt and pepper and a half tablespoonful of lemon juice; spread on the buttered bread. Brown bread is especially good for this sandwich and one slice may be spread with cream cheese and the other with the apple.

Pastry left-overs are easily converted into toothsome mouthfuls like tarts, cheese straws and cakes to serve with tea. A delicious little accompaniment to salad is prepared by rolling the pastry, sprinkling thickly with grated rich cheese, fold and roll and sprinkle again, then cut in diamonds and bake. Serve either hot or cold with a salad.

Delicious little tarts may be made of the merest scraps, and after baking fill with any jelly or jam that is at hand.

Pastry baked around the wooden molds and filled with sweetened, flavored whipped cream is another nice dessert which may be prepared, all but the filling, and kept for several days.

ARIZONA EXALTED TO RANK OF STATEHOOD

President Taft Signs the Formal Documents.

Washington, Feb. 15.—When he signed the proclamation admitting Arizona to the Union, President Taft added the forty-eighth star to the United States flag. With a gold pen he added his name to the documents and thus brought within the sisterhood of states the last bit of territory within the confines of continental United States.

There were three moving picture operators in the president's office and a half dozen photographers lined up with them on either side of his desk. The click of shutters and the whir of the picture machines marked time with the scratching of the pen. The crowd in the office included a score or more Arizonans who had traveled all the way to Washington to witness the ceremony.

After the signing it was announced that President Taft would send the nomination of Richard E. Sloan of Arizona to be United States district judge for the new state, to the senate. Confirmation of Governor Sloan's nomination as judge will be fought by Democratic senators, it is said, on complaint of Arizona Democrats, who claim that the governor was not in sympathy with the Arizona constitution and especially opposed the recall of judges.

A Serious Political Quarrel.

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 15.—Edward Thornton was arrested, charged with the attempted murder of John Graham, who is reported to be dying from knife wounds inflicted by Thornton. It is said the latter became angry with Graham because he would not agree with his political views.

SMYTHE RELEASED

Alleged Bigamist Will Not Be Prosecuted, Suit Having Been Abandoned.

Valparaiso, Ind., Feb. 15.—John William Smythe, arrested at the home of his alleged third wife at Chesterton on a charge of bigamy preferred by his second wife, Mrs. Mary Smythe of Toledo, O., was released from jail on orders from the deputy district attorney.

An agreement was reached whereby wife No. 3 filed suit in the Porter superior court to have her marriage with Smythe annulled and abandon prosecution. Wife No. 2 withdrew her charge of bigamy when Smythe agreed to return to Toledo with her.

Why Salves Can't Cure Eczema

Since the old-fashioned theory of curing eczema through the blood has been given up by scientists, many different salves have been tried for skin diseases. But it has been found that these salves only clog the pores and cannot penetrate to the inner skin below the epidermis where the eczema germs are lodged.

This—the quality of penetrating—probably explains the tremendous success of the well known liquid eczema remedy, oil of wintergreen, thymol, glycerine, etc., as compounded in D.D.D. Prescription.

We have sold other remedies for skin troubles but none that we can recommend as highly as this for we know that D.D.D. stops the itch at once. We can give you a trial size bottle for 25 cents that will be enough to prove it.

Of course all other druggists have D.D.D. Prescription—go to them if you can't come to us—but don't accept some big profit substitute.

But if you come to our store, we are so certain of what D.D.D. will do for you that we offer you a full size bottle on this guarantee:—If you do not find that it takes away the itch AT ONCE, it costs you not a cent.

HONORABLE DISTINCTION

Conferred Upon Dean Hoynes of Notre Dame, by the Pope.

Rome, Feb. 15.—The pope gave an audience to the very Rev. Andrew Morrissey of the University of Notre Dame, Ind., who presented William Hoynes, also of the University of Notre Dame, whom the pope crated a knight of St. Gregory, the third American to be thus honored.

William Hoynes is a lawyer and university dean. He served with distinction in the civil war. Later he became a lawyer and a journalist and has been a candidate for congress. He has been professor of law and dean of the law faculty of the University of Notre Dame since 1883. He was born in Ireland in 1846 and came to America in early childhood.

THEY INJURE CHILDREN.

Cathartics and Pills and Harsh Physics May Cause Distressing Complaints.

You cannot be over-careful in the selection of medicine for children. Only the very gentlest bowel medicine should ever be given. Ordinary pills, cathartics and purgatives are too apt to do more harm than good. They sometimes cause griping, nausea, and distressing after-effects, and may actually injure the health, thus establishing a life-lasting annoyance.

We personally recommend and guarantee Rexall Orderlies as a safe and dependable remedy for constipation and associate bowel disorders. We have such faith in the virtues of this remedy that we sell it on our guarantee of money back in every instance where it fails to give entire satisfaction, and we urge all in need of such medicine to try it at our risk.

Rexall Orderlies are eaten just like candy, are particularly prompt and agreeable in action, may be taken at any time, day or night; do not cause diarrhoea, nause, griping, excessive looseness, or other undesirable effects. They have a very mild but positive action upon the organs with which they come in contact, apparently acting as a regulative tonic upon the relaxed muscular coat of the bowel, thus over-coming weakness, and aiding to restore the bowels to more vigorous and healthy activity.

Rexall Orderlies not only relieve constipation, but help to remove the cause of this ailment. They also frequently overcome the necessity of constantly taking laxatives to keep the bowels in normal condition.

There is really, in our opinion, no similar medicine so good as Rexall Orderlies for the purpose which it is directed, especially for children, aged and delicate persons. They are prepared in tablet form and in two sizes of packages; 12 tablets, 10c., 36 tablets, 25c., and 80 tablets, 50c. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store. The Andrews Drug Co., Seymour, Ind.

REWARD OFFERED

Son of Wealthy South Bend Man Supposed to Have Been Kidnaped.

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 15.—Fearing that Richard Drake, aged fifteen, son of J. H. Drake, cashier of the Haskell & Barker Car works, has been kidnaped or is being detained against his will, the father of the boy has offered a reward of $500 for any information that will lead to the discovery of his whereabouts. The youth disappeared Dec. 2, 1911. For more than a month the family conducted a search for him without calling in the authorities. Since then police throughout the country have been conducting a search for him. It was at first thought that the boy had left home because of family differences, but the family is now inclined to believe that the lad is not remaining away from home of his own free will.

Bedford, Ind., Feb. 15.—Thomas Dixon, who several weeks ago was shot down, is dead. Dixon claimed that John Bandell, an Italian, shot him. His assailant escaped.

Art Exhibition.

Several years ago schools were practically limited to the training of a child's mind—that was education in its broadest sense. Today schools that are abreast of the times include manual and physical training and all work that will increase the aesthetic appreciation in the child. Through the efforts of the superintendent, principal and teachers of the Seymour public schools we are having this week an exhibition at the high school not only for children but one that no one should fail to see. Two hundred Carlon photographs reproduced from the originals by the master artists of the world. These are not just a mere bundle of pictures hung without any relation of one period to another, but subjects covering Egyptian, Greek and Italian art, Dutch and modern painting, including German, English, Spanish and American schools. Looking over a collection so complete and magnificant one feels almost overwhelmed by the greatness of it and a visit every day to the school this week would be time well spent. It would be impossible to tell you about the pictures, but a brief mention of a few important ones will give you an idea of the beauty of the collection. Beginning with Egyptian art, "The Great Sphinx," "Temple of Isis" and others leading to classic Greek. "The Hermes of Praxitles" a wonderful picture, the only authenticated original work by a Greek sculptor.

Beautiful pictures of architecture—"Milan Cathedral, Westminister Abbey," "Kenilworth Castle," "Ann Hathaway's cottage."

"Raphael's Sistine Madonna" supposed to be one of the masterpieces of painting. A beautiful copy of "Mona Lisa" that is so discussed at the present time. A splendid collection by the master portrait painters Rembrandt, VanDyck, Hals, Reynolds and others. Rosa Bonheur's collection of animal life, the wonderful landscape pictures by Corot, that everyone should see. Millet's pictures portraying French peasant life are beautiful. The expressive character pictures of dogs and deers by Landseer.

"The Melon Eaters," "Children of the Shell" by Murillo the great religious painter and many more beautiful ones by other famous artists that the public are most cordially invited to come and see. ***

Whether a soldier in the United States army can receive a decree of divorce from his wife is a question involved in the application of John Marshall, a corporal in the Twenty-fifth infantry, eight companies of which are stationed at Fort George Wright in Spokane. Mrs. Marshall says in an answer to the complaint that the plaintiff cannot establish his residence, as he was ordered to the local post by the federal government and will be ordered away, also that as the state of Washington ceded grounds occupied by the fort, the post is not legally a part of the commonwealth and that by living there a residence in the state cannot be established. The statutes of Washington require a residence of a year before a decree of divorce can be granted. One way out is for Marshal to quit the army and establish a residence.

THE ISSUE NOW SQUARELY OPEN

Roosevelt Formally Pits Himself Against Taft.

BITTER WORDS OPEN CAMPAIGN

Declaring the Administration to Be Afflicted With "Political Paranoia" and Describing the Taft Policy as One of "Political Suicide and Murder," the Colonel's Backers Hoist Signal For an Organized Campaign.

Washington, Feb. 15.—When the "Roosevelt National Committee," a newly born organization, last night issued a statement assailing the administration the Roosevelt campaign against President Taft was formally opened here.

This organization, which is backed by the men who have been trooping to the Outlook office recently and which obviously has the permission of Colonel Roosevelt to use his name, brings the issue between the president and his predecessor squarely into the open.

The opening statement of the Roosevelt organization affords impressive evidence of the bitter personal character of the campaign that is to be waged. It describes the policy of the Taft administration as one of "political suicide and murder." Medill McCormick, who is temporarily in charge of the Roosevelt headquarters opened here, stands sponsor for the statement.

The Roosevelt national Republican headquaters have been opened in the Munsey building. Several senators and representatives who have been backing the Roosevelt boom and others who were recently supporting La Follette have combined to put the Roosevelt organization in the field. They are receiving the assurance of the seven or eight governors who recently visited Oyster Bay. Medill McCormick, who not long ago was actively associated with the La Follette boom, is in charge only temporarily. It is understood that the Republicans behind the Roosevelt organization already have a man of national prominence in view for chairman. Here is the statement given out at the Roosevelt headquarters:

"The administration has embarked upon a policy of political suicide and murder—murder if possible and suicide if necessary. In its effort to discredit the friends of Mr. Roosevelt it has sought to destroy the Republicans who favor his candidacy and has cast its lot with the moribund reactionary leaders of the Republican party at the risk of losing the support of the great mass of progressive voters through the country

"Not content with viciously attacking the progressives in one speech, in another it has sought to divide the Republican opposition to the president by confusing facts with reference to Senator Cummins, Senator La Follette and Colonel Roosevelt. It is not creditable that the secretary of the treasury could have made his Lansing speech if he had not been misinformed as to facts.

"The country will not be confused by the president's characterization of Colonel Roosevelt's supporters as political neurotics. It has noticed that the elements which opposed President Taft's nomination in 1908 are back of the movement for his nomination under the leadership of the extreme reactionary wing in the house and senate. Those Republicans who secured his nomination and election are now opposed to his renomination. At first they were merely disappointed by the administration's vacillation and hoped that the administration eventually would adopt a consistent and progressive course, but what at first they took for temporary weakness they have now discovered to be political paranoia."

This statement is but the signal for organized activity of the Roosevelt boomers. Word has come to Washington that Colonel Roosevelt is surely a candidate and that the country will soon be made aware of that fact. From this time forward there will be a systematic quest for delegates directed from a central headquarters in Washington.

YUAN SHI KAI GIVEN CLEAR HAND BY SUN

President of New Republic Is Magnanimous.

Shanghai, Feb. 15.—The Nanking republican assembly has received the resignation of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, the president of the provisional republic. He recommends that Yuan Shi Kai, the premier, be appointed to the presidency. The republican party at Nanking has not yet accepted the edict of abdication. There is some objection to Yuan Shi Kai's proposed assumption of the presidency.

The chief difficulty is over the site of the new capital. The republicans insist on either Nanking or Wuchang, which is opposite Hankow. It is understood that Yuan Shi Kai favors Tientsin as the capital.

The Nanking national assembly (republican) will meet this afternoon, when Yuan Shi Kai will be proposed as the president of the republic. He will probably be elected, although there is some opposition to placing him in the executive position.

Who Broke Jail Padlock?

Marion, Ind., Feb. 15.—Officers of the law in Grant county are on the lookout for Jean Brown, who escaped from the jail in Fairmount, and officers of that city are making an investigation of the getaway in hope of ascertaining the identity of the person who liberated Brown by breaking a padlock on the jail door.

Auto Crashed Into Streetcar.

Terre Haute, Ind., Feb. 15.—When an automobile, run at a high rate of speed, crashed head-on into a streetcar on East Wabash avenue, James Buddle and William Shaw received injuries from which they will probably die, and Lloyd Torner, chauffeur, was severely hurt.

Mrs. Effie McCormick and Mrs. Frankie Ripples, of Needles, Cal., widow and sister of Conductor John McCormick, who was killed by a train in California January 28th, are expected here this afternoon. The family here have not as yet learned the exact particulars of John's death. The following taken from a letter from one of his most intimate friends, shows the esteem in which he was held: "I was indeed sorry to hear of John's death, as he was certainly the finest and biggest-hearted man I have met in a long time, and also one of the best conductors on the Arizona division, and I would not be surprised if that very fact caused his death. He was too enthusiastic in his chosen profession, and perhaps a little careless of his own personal safety, in his zeal to serve the interests of his company."—Brownstown Banner.

Col. Fesler, assistant adjutant general of the G. A. R. of Indiana reports that the death rate among Indiana veterans of the Civil war has increased 2.03 per cent. during the past six years.

The report for 1906, the first year Colonel Fesler was in office, showed the number of veterans enrolled in the G. A. R. posts was 14,309. The deaths among members that year numbered 509, a rate of 3.56 per cent. of the entire membership. In 1911, the membership was 12,709, and the deaths numbered 711, making a rate of 5.59 per cent. of the membership.

A fascinating musical comedy is coming to the Majestic tomorrow night, "The Flower of the Ranch." A company of some forty singers, dancers and fun makers go to make the play merry.

PATCHING UP THEIR PAST DIFFERENCES

England and Germany Decide to Be Friends

London, Feb. 15.—In the house of commons last evening the expected announcement in regard to the visit of Lord Haldane, the British war secretary, to Berlin, where he conferred with the German emperor, was made by Herbert Henry Asquith, the premier. Mr. Asquith's statement is taken as meaning that Great Britain and Germany have at last come to an agreement in regard to their mutual actions. Mr. Asquith's important announcement was greeted with hearty cheers.

The premier, answering a question, admitted that the relations between Germany and England have recently been clouded over by serious events, but he stigmatized as pure invention the story that the British fleet last summer was ready to attack Germany. This story was circulated during the crisis in the negotiations over Morocco when war between Germany and France, England's ally, seemed likely. The story gained wide circulation and Mr. Asquith's statement is practically the only official contradiction of it.

Continuing, the premier declared that the anticipations in regard to the results of Lord Haldane's visit to Berlin and an improvement in the friendly relations between England and Germany were completely realized. Lord Haldane, he said, freely and frankly conversed with a wide area of German officialdom and there was an unmistakable evidence of a sincere and resolute desire on both sides for a better footing for their relations and at the same time without impairing the special relationships which each bore to other powers.

Theater Destroyed by Fire.

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 15.—The La-Purdette theater was gutted by fire and George G. Ball, owner and proprietor, estimated his loss at $1,800. The fire started in a dressing room, and it is presumed that a poorly insulated wire was the cause.

Woman
Her Home, Her Interests.

A Towel Shower.

A towel shower for a recent bride was both practical and acceptable. There were 12 intimate friends, so they each contributed the price of a towel and the hostess purchased one dozen of the same pattern with the large papier-mache letters and cotton for marking.

On the afternoon for the "shower" all came with their thimbles and each girl embroidered a letter on a towel, so when refreshments were served 12 beautiful pieces of linen were placed before the bride.

Just a word as to the wearing qualities of these papier-mache letters, concerning which there seems to be a divided opinion. Personally, I have found them most satisfactory, having used a tablecloth and napkins for nine years that are marked in this manner. If they are closely and carefully worked they will outwear the original material and that is all that is necessary.

The refreshments consisted of lobster salad, hot cheese sandwiches, coffee, olives and salted nuts. A relative, who knew of the shower, sent two guest towels, a pair of bath towels and six wash cloths.

Shut-in Day Amusements.

As soon as a child, girl or boy, is able to handle round-pointed scissors provide a pair, with quantities of colored pictures to cut out. Then, if there is no handy man available, get the nearest carpenter to make a screen or the frame for one; tack cheap paper cambric on the back. Cover the youngster from top to toe with an apron, spread a sheet on the floor, give him a bottle, or better, still, a tube of library paste, (they dearly love to squeeze it), and you happily may go your way rejoicing, knowing that several hours will elapse ere the charm of cutting and the joy of pasting will have been lost.

When the screen is full take it out and replace with a fresh piece of cambric. This amusement gives the child ample scope to exercise its originality, and the enjoyment of not being assisted is keenly appreciated by the little soul. If a box of water color paints is added to the outfit, so much the better. And, by the way, those colors are made harmless for these embryo artists, so if the brush should find its way into the little mouth no serious consequences follow.

A Utility Shower.

A dozen girls planned this shower for a recent bride. It was rather unusual and very enjoyable. The hostess asked them all to meet at her house informally at 2 o'clock asking the bride-elect to be there at three. In this way she had time to explain her scheme which was as follows: She has materials to make these articles: a dust cap, three holders, a broom bag, ironing holder, laundry bag, a kitchen apron, clothespin bag, roller towel, several dusters of cheese cloth and a half dozen dish cloths. The entire cost was divided among the 12 and the materials wrapped in tissue paper and hidden throughout the rooms.

Upon the arrival of the honored guest they chatted awhile and then the hostess announced that a little fairy had confided to her that there were packages of value secretly hid-soft tones of the piano the same as for "Magic music." When all the packages had been discovered the girls all set to work upon which ever article they selected. They pronounced this a "utility" shower and it certainly was practical, for the guest of honor said her mind was so in the clouds that the articles presented had never been thought of. Delicious tea was brewed by the hostess, accompanied by thin bread and butter sandwiches filled with orange marmalade, bon-bons, and small cakes. The guests assisted in serving. The hostess was a bride of six months, so she knew from experience what a new housekeeper would need.

IN VOGUE

Fruit trimming for hats for early fall include tiny white apples, white raspberries and white peaches.

Rhinestone trimmings are by far the most showy and effective as well as beautiful trimming of the season.

Single ornaments of passementerie are attached to linen collars in some cases in place of ordinary ties or bows.

White, cream and fancy serges, comprising black hairline stripes on white grounds, are great favorites of the moment.

The new changeable taffetas come in double width and are most advantageous for cutting. Many exquisite combinations for blouses can be had—a popular one being gold and the new hydrangea blue.

A great favorite is the new material called velour de laine—a mixed suiting, almost like camel's hair. It is particularly effective in a white diagonal stripe and there are variations in tan, light blue and gray.

Persian Veiling.

Parisian women are searching for Persian veils, the more elaborate and the older the better. No inclination to use them as face coverings has manifested itself; the ladies are merely tired of Russian embroideries.

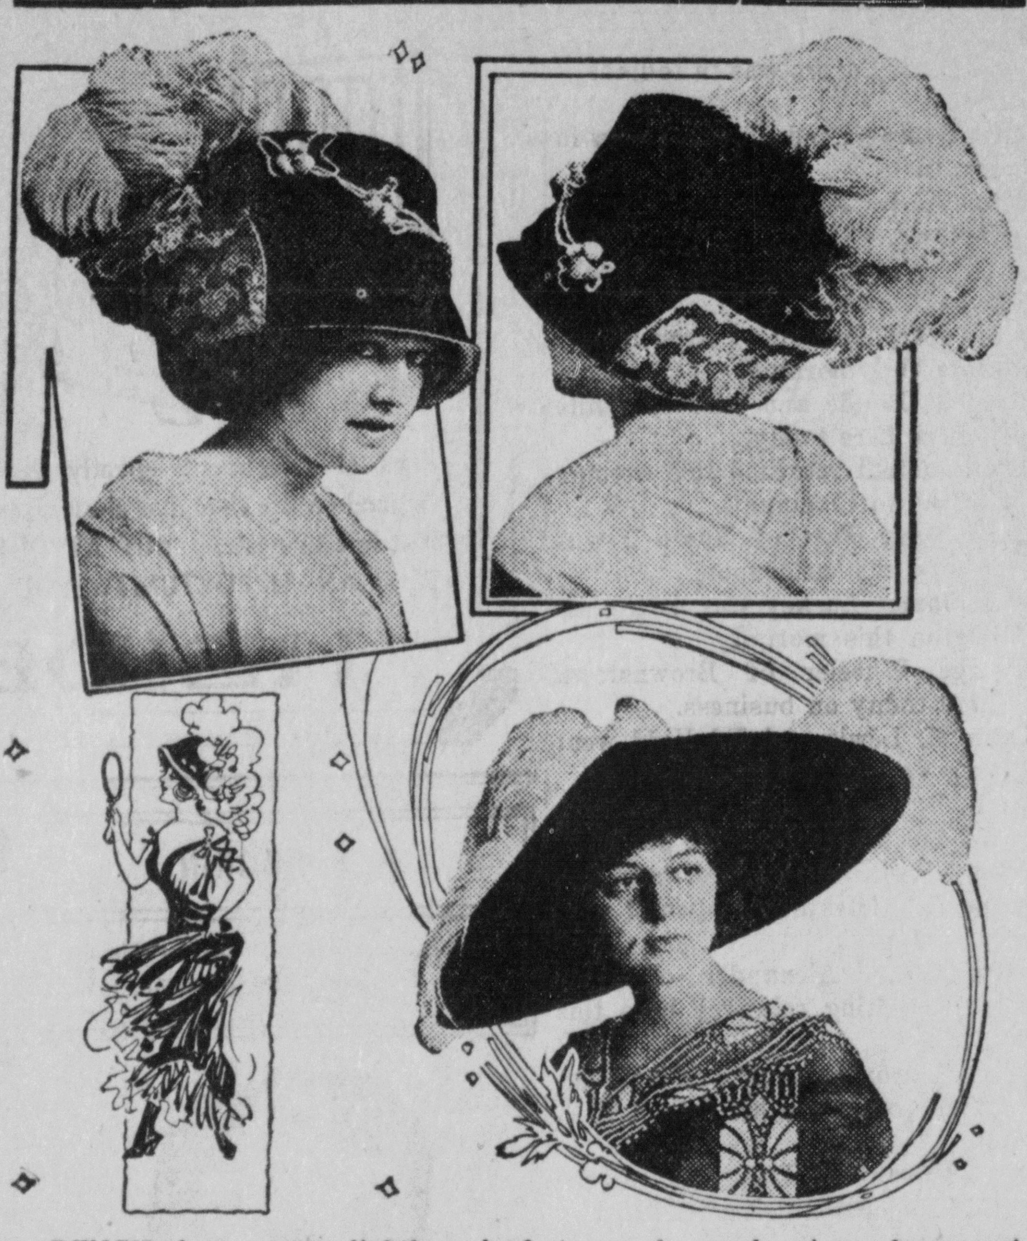
French Plumes



FRENCH plumes, very slightly curled, and in innumerable varieties of colorings, are in high favor. From 12 to 30 inches in length, they are used in clusters and singly on hats big and little. Black, white, and all the colors, soft or brillilant, are brought into use for them. They all show in many shadings of one color, or cleverly dyed into several colors on the same flue.

Some of the most fascinating ones are made with one ply mounted over another in a contrasting color, and these two over a third. King's blue and brilliant cerise have been in evidence all over the country, with a liberal sprinkling of mustard color and all the gold shades and the natural tones. One could not go amiss in selecting colors.

The day of the narrow plume is vanishing. Every one wants a broad spread of flues. Natural plumes with short flues must be used by the manufacturers for mode pieces known as "ostrich fancies." The process of tying the flues (so much the vogue in willow plumes), has led to many new effects in tied feathers and has come to stay.

Wreaths and pompans, crown covers, bands and fancy upstanding pieces provide an outlet for the use of narrow plumes.

The distinguishing feature in the use of trimmings at present lies in the abundance of one kind of trimming on a shape. Three to six long plumes decorate big picture hats, but do not conceal the lovely lines of the shapes on which they are mounted. Short plumes are used in clusters in which four or five in a group may be confidently looked for on a good model. But their purchase is not extravagance, because good plumes are durable and may be cleaned or dyed. They are therefore useful for many seasons.

MOLESKIN COATS IN FAVOR

If Anything, They Have Advanced in Popularity Since the Beginning of the Season.

Long coats of moleskin are a fad of the moment, and judging from the number seen, they will continue in popularity throughout the season. They are lovely in color and texture. The pelts are supple enough for graceful handling, but the fur is not so practical as the tougher furs, nor has it the permanent value of the more expensive furs.

Coats showing two furs in combination are also fashionable. Hudson or French seal and moleskin in combination are popular and more effective than one would imagine. The coloring is somber but rich. Long, straight scarfs and huge muffs made of these two furs are very lovely, while moleskin combined with ermine in long coats is beautiful, the soft gray and white making a most charming effect.

Cloth coats trimmed with moleskin are very much more to be desired than those trimmed with a cheaper fur. These fur trimmed models are made in all degrees of richness and can be had at prices that suit the purse of any one buying a handsome coat.

Hats, motor bonnets and gowns are trimmed with the soft fur which blends well with almost any color that may be selected.

Mending Gloves.

The safest and best way to mend gloves that have ripped at the seams or split across the back or palm is to carefully buttonhole the edges of the tear with fine silk matching exactly the color of the kid.

After both sides of the rent are buttonholed, catch the stitches together through the center, sewing over and over and taking up each stitch. By using this method the glove will never tear out again at the same place. It also makes a neat finish.

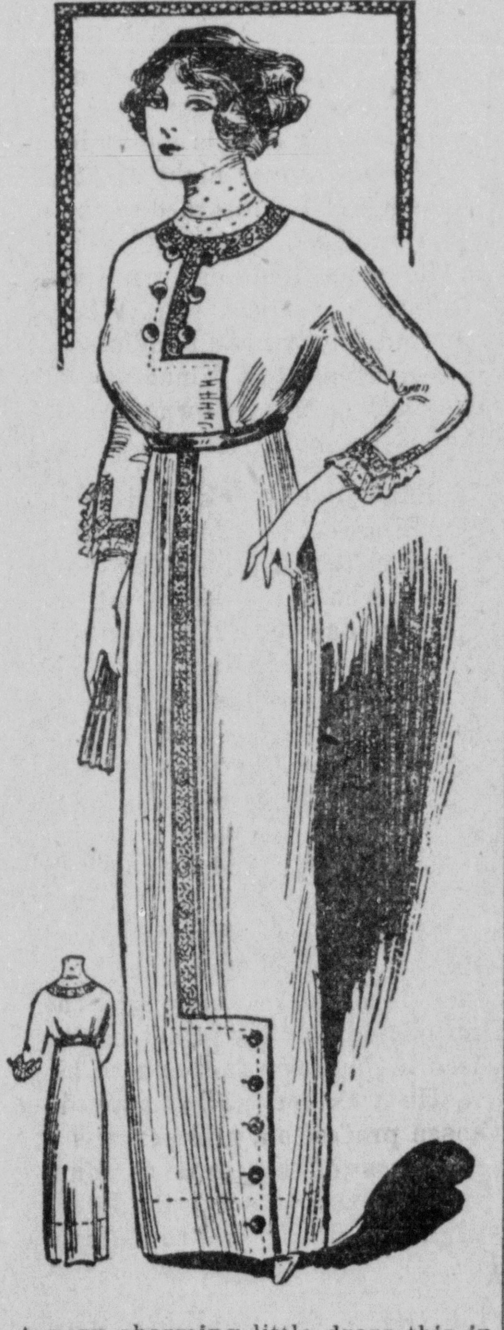
Removing Stains.

Stains may be removed, even from the most delicately colored gloves, by suspending them for a day in an atmosphere of ammonia. Provide a tall glass cylinder, in the bottom of which place strong aqua ammonia. Be careful to remove from the sides of the jar any ammonia that may have been spattered upon them. Suspend the gloves to the stopper in the jar. They must not come in contact with the liquid.

Lace and Fur.

Macrame is one of the laces which is smart and practical in combination with fur. It is better than the finer laces for this purpose, and looks very effective when mounted over satin of a brilliant color. One very lovely little set recently seen has more of the macrame than the fur. It is a three piece set of muff, fancy tied stole and turban. The lace is over gold colored satin and there is just a border of skunk on each of the three articles.

HOME DRESS



A very charming little dress this in gray cashmere. The cut of the skirt is novel and pretty. The lower part of the right side wrapping over the left, where it is ornamented with buttons. A strip of embroidery galloon of Oriental colorings is carried down center front.

The bodice, which is Magyar in style, is trimmed to correspond with skirt; the small round yoke is of spotted net. The sleeves are trimmed with galloon and finished with frills of lace.

Materials required: Four and one-half yards 46 inches wide, three yards galloon, 11 buttons, one-half yard spotted net 18 inches wide.

The Bar Brooch.

In every collection of beautiful ornaments the bar brooch finds a place.

It is very long and absolutely rigid.

It is ornamented in various ways.

One pattern is set closely with emeralds and rubies alternating.

Another is a flashing rivulet of brilliants from end to end.

A third has a large pearl in the center, flanked by pearls of dwindling sizes, to the tiniest possible gems at the ends.

Then, again, there is the absolutely plan gold bar brooch, which is used for various purposes, from fixing the squash hat in its place to securing the one-sided jabot.

Prove that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Does Restore the Health of Ailing Women.

Boston, Mass.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from hemorrhages (sometimes lasting for weeks), and could get nothing to check them. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound (tablet form) on Tuesday, and the following Saturday morning the hemorrhages stopped. I have taken them regularly ever since and am steadily gaining.

"I certainly think that every one who is troubled as I was should give your Compound Tablets a faithful trial, and they will find relief."—Mrs. GEORGE JUBY, 802 Fifth Street, South Boston, Mass.

Letter from Mrs. Julia King, Phœnix, R.I.

Phœnix, R.I.—"I worked steady in the mill from the time I was 12 years old until I had been married a year, and I think that caused my bad feelings. I had soreness in my side near my left hip that went around to my back, and sometimes I would have to lie in bed for two or three days. I was not able to do my housework.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped me wonderfully in every way. You may use my letter for the good of others. I am only too glad to do anything within my power to recommend your medicine."—Mrs. JULIA KING, Box 282, Phœnix. R.I.

Letter from Mrs. Etta Donovan, Willimantic, Conn.

Willimantic, Conn.—"For five years I suffered untold agony from female troubles causing backache, irregularities, dizziness, and nervous prostration. It was impossible for me to walk up stairs without stopping on the way. I was all run down in every way.

"I tried three doctors and each told me something different. I received no benefit from any of them but seemed to suffer more. The last doctor said it was no use for me to take anything as nothing would restore me to health again. So I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to see what it would do, and by taking seven bottles of the Compound and other treatment you advised, I am restored to my natural health."—Mrs. ETTA DONOVAN, 762 Main Street, Willimantic, Conn.

Letter from Mrs. Winfield Dana, Augusta, Me.

Augusta, Me.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured the backache, headache, and the bad pain I had in my right side, and I am perfectly well."—Mrs. WINFIELD DANA, R.F.D. No. 2, Augusta, Me.

Letter from Mrs. J. A. Thompson, Newport, Vt.

Newport, Vt.—"I thank you for the great benefit Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me. I took eight bottles and it did wonders for me, as I was a nervous wreck when I began taking it. I shall always speak a good word for it to my friends."—Mrs. JOHN A. THOMPSON, Box 3, Newport Center, Vermont.

Letter from Miss Grace Dodds, Bethlehem, N.H.

Bethlehem, N.H.—"By working very hard, sweeping carpets, washing, ironing, lifting heavy baskets of clothes, etc., I got all run down. I was sick in bed every month.

"This last Spring my mother got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for me, and already I feel like another girl. I am regular and do not have the pains that I did, and do not have to go to bed. I will tell all my friends what the Compound is doing for me."—Miss GRACIE B. DODDS, Box 133, Bethlehem, N.H.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine, made from roots and herbs, it has restored so many suffering women to health.

CARE OF THE INSANE A GROWING PROBLEM

Additional Facilities Are Needed, Says the Governor.

Indianapolis, Feb. 14.—On Sept. 30 an average of one in every 480 inhabitants of Indiana was insane, according to figures compiled by the board of state charities for the last fiscal year. The highest ratio was in the central counties, where one person in every 440 inhabitants was insane. The district cared for by the northern state hospital at Logansport, and that by the southern hospital at Evansville, had equal ratios, or one insane person for every 460 inhabitants. The district cared for by the eastern hospital at Richmond had one insane person for every 496 inhabitants. The lowest ratio was in the district cared for by the southeastern hospital at Madison, where there was one insane person for every 496 inhabitants.

Governor Marshall has said repeatedly that it will be advisable for the next general assembly to provide for additional care of the insane, in order to take insane persons from county jails and poor asylums. Whether an additional hospital should be provided, or more room added to those already in operation is a detail the governor has not yet satisfied himself concerning.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

The National league baseball men have adopted the playing schedule for the coming season.

Gus Ruhlin, once a leading heavyweight pugilist, is dead at his home in Brooklyn. He was born in Akron, O., and was about forty years old.

Are You Nervous?

What makes you nervous? It is the weakness of your womanly constitution, which cannot stand the strain of the hard work you do. As a result, you break down, and ruin your entire nervous system. Don't keep this up! Take Cardui, the woman's tonic. Cardui is made from purely vegetable ingredients. It acts gently on the womanly organs, and helps them to do their proper work. It relieves pain and restores health, in a natural manner, by going to the source of the trouble and building up the bodily strength.

TAKE CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

Mrs. Grace Fortner, of Man, W. Va., took Cardui. This is what she says about it: "I was so weak and nervous, I could not bear to have anyone near me. I had fainting spells, and I lost flesh every day. The first dose of Cardui helped me. Now, I am entirely cured of the fainting spells, and I cannot say enough for Cardui, for I know it saved my life." It is the best tonic for women.

Do you suffer from any of the pains peculiar to women? Take Cardui. It will help you. Ask your druggist.

BURNING DAYLIGHT

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Elam Harnish, known all through Alaska as "Burning Daylight," celebrates his 30th birthday with a friendly crowd of miners at the Circle City Tivoli. He is a general favorite, a hero and a pioneer in the new gold fields. The dance leads to heavy gambling in which over $100,000 is staked. Harnish loses his money and his mine but wins the mail contract of the district.

CHAPTER II.—Burning Daylight starts on his trip to deliver the mail with dogs and sledge. He tells his friends that the big Yukon gold strike will soon be on and he intends to be in it at the start. With Indian attendants and dogs he dips over the bank and down the frozen Yukon and in the gray light is gone.

CHAPTER III.—Harnish makes a sensationally rapid run across country with the mail, appears at the Tivoli and there is another characteristic celebration. He has made a record against cold and exhaustion and is now ready to join his friends in a dash to the new gold fields.

CHAPTER IV.—Harnish decides where the gold will be found in the up-river district and buys two tons of flour, which he declares will be worth its weight in gold before the season is over.

CHAPTER V.—When Daylight arrives with his heavy outfit of flour he finds the big flat desolate. A comrade discovers gold and Harnish reaps a rich harvest. He goes to Dawson, begins investing in corner lots and staking other miners and becomes the most prominent figure in the Klondike.

CHAPTER VI.

It was held by the thousands of hero-worshipping chechaquos that Daylight was a man absolutely without fear. But Bettles and Dan MacDonald and other sourdoughs shook their heads and laughed as they mentioned women. And they were right. He had always been afraid of them from the time, himself a lad of seventeen, when Queen Anne, of Juneau, made open and ridiculous love to him. For that matter, he never had known women. Born in a mining-camp where they were rare and mysterious, having no sisters, his mother dying while he was an infant, he had never been in contact with them.

But it was left to the Virgin to give him his final fright. She was found one morning dead in her cabin. A shot through the head had done it, and she had left no message, no explanation. Then came the talk. Some wit, voicing public opinion, called it a case of too much Daylight. She had killed herself because of him. Everybody knew this, and said so. The correspondents wrote it up, and once more Burning Daylight, King of the Klondike, was sensationally featured in the Sunday supplements of the United States. The Virgin had straightened up, so the feature-stories ran, and correctly so. Never had she entered a Dawson City dance-hall. When she first arrived from Circle City, she had earned her living by washing clothes. Next, she had bought a sewing-machine and made men's drill parkas, fur caps, and moosehide mittens. Then she had gone as a clerk into the First Yukon Bank. All this, and more, was known and told, though one and all were agreed that Daylight, while the cause, had been the innocent cause of her untimely end.

And the worst of it was that Daylight knew it was true. Always would he remember that last night he had seen her. He had thought nothing of it at the time; but, looking back, he was haunted by every little thing that had happened. In the light of the tragic event, he could understand everything—her quietness, that calm certitude as if all vexing questions of living had been smoothed out and were gone, and that certain ethereal sweetness about all that she had said and done that had been almost maternal. He remembered the way she had looked at him, how she had laughed when he narrated Mickey Dolan's mistake in staking the fraction on Skookum Gulch. Her laughter had been lightly joyous, while at the same time it had lacked its old-time robustness. Not that she had been grave or subdued. On the contrary, she had been so patently content, so filled with peace. She had fooled him, fool that he was. He had even thought that night that her feeling for him had passed, and he had taken delight in the thought, and caught visions of the satisfying future friendship that would be theirs with this perturbing love out of the way.

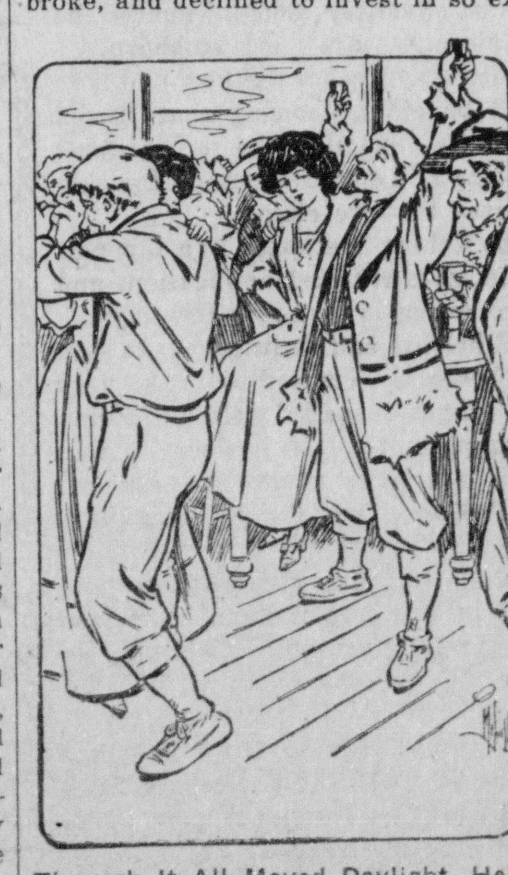
And then, when he stood at the door, cap in hand, and said good night. It had struck him at the time as a funny and embarrassing thing, her bending over his hand and kissing it. He had felt like a fool, but he shivered now when he looked back on it and felt again the touch of her lips on his hand. She was saying good-by, an eternal good-by, and he had never guessed. At that very moment, and for all the moments of the evening, coolly and deliberately, as he well knew her way, she had been resolved to die. If he had only known it! Untouched by the contagious malady himself, nevertheless he would have married her if he had had the slightest inkling of what she contemplated. And yet he knew, furthermore, that hers was a certain stiff-kneed pride that would not have permitted her to accept marriage as an act of philanthropy. There had really been no saving her, after all. The love-disease had fastened upon her, and she had been doomed from the first to perish of it.

Six thousand spent the winter of 1897 in Dawson, work on the creeks went on apace, while beyond the passes it was reported that one hundred thousand more were waiting for the spring. Late one brief afternoon, Daylight, on the benches between French Hill and Shookum Hill, caught a wider vision of things. Beneath him lay the richest part of Eldorado Creek, while up and down Bonanza he could see for miles. It was a scene of a vast devastation. The hills, to their tops, had been shorn of trees, and their naked sides showed signs of goring and perforating that even the mantle of snow could not hide. Beneath him, in every direction, were the cabins of men. But not many men were visible. A blanket of smoke filled the valleys and turned the gray day to melancholy twilight. Smoke arose from a thousand holes in the snow, where, deep down on bed-rock, in the frozen muck and gravel, men crept and scratched and dug, and ever built more fires to break the grip of the frost.

Organization was what was needed, he decided; and his quick imagination sketched Eldorado Creek, from mouth to source, and from mountain top to mountain top, in the hands of one capable management. Even steam-thawing, as yet untried, but bound to come, he saw would be a makeshift. What should be done was to hydraulic the valley sides and benches, and then, on the creek bottom, to use gold-dredges. There was the very chance for another big killing. He had wondered just what was precisely the reason for the Guggenhammers and the big English concerns sending in their high-salaried experts. That was their scheme. That was why they had approached him for the sale of worked-out claims and tailings. They were content to let the small mine-owners gopher out what they could, for there would be millions in the leavings.

And, gazing down on the smoky inferno of crude effort, Daylight outlined the new game he would play, a game in which the Guggenhammers and the rest would have to reckon with him. But along with the delight in the new conception came a weariness. He was tired of the long Arctic years, and he was curious about the Outside—the great world of which he had heard other men talk and of which he was as ignorant as a child. There were games out there to play. It was a larger table, and there was no reason why he with his millions should not sit in and take a hand. So it was, that afternoon on Skookum Hill, that he resolved to play this last best Klondike hand and pull for the Outside. It took time, however. He put trusted agents to work on the heels of great experts, and on the creeks where they began to buy he likewise bought. Wherever they tried to corner a worked-out creek, they found him standing in the way, owning blocks of claims or artfully scattered claims that put all their plans to naught.

Followed wars, truces, compromises, victories, and defeats. By 1898, sixty thousand men were on the Klondike, and all their fortunes and affairs rocked back and forth and were affected by the battles Daylight fought. And more and more the taste for the larger game urged in Daylight's mouth. Here he was already locked in grapples with the great Guggenhammers, and winning, fiercely winning. Possibly the severest struggle was waged on Ophir, the veriest of moose-pastures, whose low-grade dirt was valuable only because of its vastness. The ownership of a block of seven claims in the heart of it gave Daylight his grip, and they could not come to terms. The Guggenhammer experts concluded that it was too big for him to handle, and when they gave him an ultimatum to that effect he accepted and bought them out. The plan was his own, but he sent down to the States for competent engineers to carry it out. In the Rinkabilly watershed, eighty miles away, he built his reservoir, and for eighty miles the huge wooden conduit carried the water across country to Ophir. Estimated at three millions, the reservoir and conduit cost nearer four. Nor did he stop with this. Electric power plants were installed, and his workings were lighted as well as run by electricity. Other sourdoughs, who had struck it rich in excess of all their dreams, shook their heads gloomily, warned him that he would go broke, and declined to invest in so extravagant a venture. But Daylight smiled, and sold out the remainder of his town-site holdings. He sold at the right time, at the height of the placer boom. When he prophesied to his old cronies, in the Moosehorn Saloon, that within five years town lots in Dawson could not be given away, while the cabins would be chopped up for firewood, he was laughed at roundly, and assured that the mother-lode would be found ere that time. But he went ahead, when his need for lumber was finished, selling out his sawmills as well. Likewise, he began to get rid of his scattered holdings on the various creeks, and without thanks to any one he finished his conduit, built his dredges, imported his machinery, and made the gold of Ophir immediately accessible. And he, who five years before had crossed over the divide from Indian River and threaded the silent wilderness, his dogs packing Indian fashion, himself living Indian fashion on straight moose meat, now heard the hoarse whistles calling his hundreds of laborers to work, and watched them toil under the white glare of the arc-lamps.



Through It All Moved Daylight, Hell-Roaring, Burning Daylight.

But having done the thing, he was ready to depart. And when he let the word go out, the Guggenhammers vied with the English concerns and with a new French company in bidding for Ophir and all its plant. The Guggenhammers bid highest, and the price they paid netted Daylight a clean million. It was current rumor that he was worth anywhere from twenty to thirty millions. But he alone knew just how he stood, and that, with his last claim sold and the table swept clean of his winnings, he had ridden his hunch to the tune of just a trifle over eleven millions.

His departure was a thing that passed into the history of the Yukon along with his other deeds. All the Yukon was his guest, Dawson the seat of the festivity. On that one last night no man's dust save his own was good Drinks were not to be purchased. Every saloon ran open, with extra relays of exhausted bartenders, and the drinks were given away. A man who refused this hospitality, and persisted in paying, found a dozen fights on his hands. The veriest chechaquos rose up to defend the name of Daylight from such insult. And through it all, on moccasined feet, moved Daylight, hell-roaring Burning Daylight, overspilling with good nature and camaraderie, howling his he-wolf howl and claiming the night as his, bending men's arms down on the bars, performing feats of strength, his bronzed face flushed with drink, his black eyes flashing, clad in overalls and blanket coat, his ear-flaps dangling and his gauntleted mittens swinging from the cord across the shoulders. But this time it was neither an ante nor a stake that he threw away, but a mere marker in the game that he who held so many markers would not miss.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by consitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Impressions of Mr. Newrich.

When Mr. Newrich was asked, on his return to Tacoma, what he thought of Italy, he hesitated for several seconds. "I want to speak fair about every country I've been to in my travels," he said, slowly, "and there are points about some parts of that Eyetalian country that I'd like to see copied in Tacoma. I am referring," said Mr. Newrich, letting his slow and heavy gaze rest on one member of his audience after another, "to the natural beauties of the country, you understand When you come to buildings, the whole of Italy, particularly Rome, has seen her best days, in my opinion, and seen 'em a good while ago, what's more."

Sedentary habits, lack of outdoor exercise, insufficient mastication of food, constipation, a torpid liver, worry and anxiety, are the most common causes of stomach troubles. Fifty Years Ago Today.
Feb. 15.

Decisive day at Fort Donelson. The Confederate garrison sallied out and attacked the Federal right held by General J. A. McClernand's division; the assailants were repulsed, and General C. F. Smith's Federal division charged through the Confederate lines and bivouacked there for the night. The Confederate officers in the fort held a council of war.

POULTRY

MANNER OF STICKING FOWLS

Common Pocket-Knife, With Medium-Sized Blade, Makes Excellent Instrument for Operation.

When the market calls for a bird to be bled, the best plan is to stick it in the mouth; and by so doing avoid the unsightliness so common where they are hacked about the throat. Using this method, one should first of all have a stout cord fastened to the ceiling, with a two-pound weight attached to the lower end. This should be just high enough to hang the bird to be picked at a convenient height. The weight is used to save tying a knot each time; as all that is necessary is to wind the string around the bird's legs, and the weight will hold it securely. Use a box or barrel to catch the feathers; and a small paint-can, with a hook fastened to the handle, is hooked into the bird's mouth to catch the blood and prevent its soiling the feathers. It requires very little practice to kill the birds in this manner. After the bird is hanged by the legs, cross the wings at the back and grasp the head in the left hand, the back of the head in the palm; and, with the end of the second finger, hold the mouth open; then, with the knife in the right hand, make a diagonal cut across the roof of the mouth, just where the arteries enter the head. Then, with the point of the blade, pierce the brain in about the middle of the roof of the mouth, which will loosen the feathers. The moment the operation is finished, the bird should be plucked, as the cooling of the body makes the feathers harder to pick. A common pocket-knife, with a medium-sized blade, makes a good instrument for sticking.

DUST BOX FOR WINTER USE

Thinking the hens did not use their dust bath as much as they ought, and believing the reason for this to be because the dust material was so cold, we changed conditions in this way. A dry goods box three feet long, twenty inches wide by eighteen inches deep was obtained, says a writer in the Homestead. The bottom boards were removed and a new bottom nailed on, which was one-fourth inch thick. Another box, just enough larger to allow the first to slip inside easily, was next found. This was placed in the sunniest spot in the hen house and filled to within four inches of the top with fresh horse manure. On top of this the smaller box was set and filled to within six inches of the top with sifted hard coal ashes and some powdered tobacco stems. In a short time the ashes felt warm and the hens soon found this out. They have kept remarkably free from lice, due, we believe, to the tobacco. Fresh horse manure is put in two or three times during the winter.

SALT IN THE POULTRY FOOD

No Living Thing Can Get Along Entirely Without It and Chickens Should Have Food Salted.

Many people labor under the impression that no salt should ever be put into poultry food, simply because highly salted food, such as salt fish or pickled meat, has sometimes killed chickens. As a matter of fact, no living thing can get along entirely without salt in some form. Chickens can always get salt in summer by eating grass, which absorbs a certain amount from the soil. But in winter it is different. During cold weather all prepared chicken food, such as mashes and boiled vegetables, should be salted in about the same proportion as for human food. If this is done, the poultry will be healthier and more productive.

SAGE TEA WILL DARKEN THE HAIR

Restore Faded and Gray Hair to Natural Color—Dandruff Quickly Removed.

There is nothing new about the idea of using sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our great-grandmothers kept their locks soft, dark and glossy by using a "sage tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance they made a brew of sage leaves and applied it to their hair, with wonderfully beneficial effect. Nowadays we don't have to resort to old-time, tiresome methods of gathering the herbs and making the tea. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves, and all we have to do is to call for the ready-made product, Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, containing sage in the proper strength, with the addition of sulphur, another old-time scalp remedy.

The manufacturers of this remedy authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

Don't neglect your hair. Get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur to-day, and notice the difference after a few days' use.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

UNCLE SAM PUTS THE PRESSURE ON

Alleged Dynamiters In All Parts of Country Arrested.

GREAT DRAGNET IS HAULED IN

Beginning With the President and Chief Officers of the Iron Workers' Union, Federal Marshals Have Closed in on Many Labor Leaders Alleged to Have Been Included in the Dread Conspiracy of Destruction.

Indianapolis, Feb. 15.—With the certainty that there will be others, forty-one arrests represents the work of the federal grand jury in the dynamiting case up to date, and it is not denied at the federal building that there are from fifteen to twenty others who have been caught in the net and will be arrested. Some of those will include the men already under indictment at Los Angeles. Nearly all the accused men are now or have been members of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers.

Frank M. Ryan, president of the iron workers' union; Herbert S. Hockin, secretary-treasurer; J. T. Butler, first vice president; Fred T. Sherman, business agent of the local union of iron workers, and S. P. Meadows, business agent of the carpenters' union, were arrested here and taken at once to the office of the United States marshal, where they gave bond, Ryan and Hockin in a sum of $10,000 each, and the others in the sum of $5,000 each.

The following contains the names of persons arrested in other parts of the country for complicity in the dynamiting plots, together with positions they hold in organized labor:

Muncie, Ind.—Hiram Cline, national organizer for carpenters.

Cleveland—Peter J. Smith, former business agent of the iron workers; George (Nipper) Anderson, walking delegate iron workers.

New York—Frank C. Webb, former member international executive board iron workers; Patrick F. Farrell, former member international executive board; Daniel Brophy, former member international executive board.

St. Louis—Paul Morrin, business agent of the iron workers' local; John H. Barry, former business agent.

Milwaukee—W. E. Beddin, financial secretary and business agent iron workers' local; Herman Sieffert, assistant business agent for iron workers' local, 1909-10.

Philadelphia—Michael J. Cunnane, business agent iron workers' local.

Davenport—Daniel Buckley, business agent of iron workers' local.

Denver—H. W. Legleitner (now of Pittsburg), former member international executive board of iron workers.

Detroit—Charles W. Wachmeister, former business agent, and former president iron workers' local; Frank J. Murphy, walking delegate iron workers.

Chicago—R. H. Houlihan, financial secretary Chicago iron workers' local No. 1; James Cooney, one of the business agents of the iron workers local No. 1; James Coughlin, former business agent local No. 1; William Shupe, former business agent local No. 1.

Cincinnati—Edward Clark, former business agent iron workers' local; Ernest G. W. Basey, former business agent Indianapolis local No. 22.

Springfield, Ill.—James E. Ray, president Peoria iron workers' local; Edward Smythe, financial secretary Peoria iron workers' local; A. J. Kavenaugh, business agent for Springfield iron workers' local in 1911; M. L. Pennell, president for Springfield iron workers' local in 1909-10.

Kansas City—W. B. Brown, walking delegate for Kansas City iron workers in 1910; W. J. McCain, business agent iron workers' local.

Syracuse—E. E. Phillips, secretary-treasurer iron workers' local; John Carroll, recording secretary iron workers local.

Duluth—Fred Mooney, financial secretary Duluth iron workers' local in 1910.

Minneapolis—Charles Beum, business manager local building trades council.

Scranton—M. J. Hannon, business agent iron workers' local.

Those yet to be taken into custody are said to be John J. McCray, Wheeling, W. Va.; M. J. Young, Boston; J. W. Irwin, Peoria, Ill.; Frank Painter, Omaha, Neb.; Patrick Ryan, Chicago; Milton H. Davis, Philadelphia, and William K. Benson, Detroit.

"The certified copy of the indictment which was sent to the respective districts and upon which the complaints were filed in each district as a basis for removal proceedings," said District Attorney Miller, "was the indictment No. 3 for conspiracy, charging the consummated acts in furtherance of the conspiracy, and the transportation of dynamite and nitro-glycerin from place to place."

Thus while arrests are being made on only one indictment, which is the general conspiracy indictment, naming fifty-four men as parties to the conspiracy, there are thirty-one other indictments, which charge the unlawful transportation of explosives, and charge overt acts in the furtherance of the conspiracy.

All defendants will be arraigned before Judge Anderson in federal court, March 12.

John Huebner, of Loogootee, has contracted to trade his Jackson county farm of about 300 acres, near Crothersville, for a brick business building and stock of general merchandise at Martinsville, Ill. The consideration in each instance amounts to 'about $15,000.—Daviess County Democrat.

In the February issue of the Christian Herald appears the pictures of twenty-eight young women who last year took up the work of the Methodist Deaconess ministry. Among them was the picture of Miss Grace Findley, daughter of Mrs. W. A. Findley east of Brownstown; she is principal of a girls' school at Rennselaer.

The Illinois Central has announced that arrangement has been made with the B. & O. Southwestern to run a special train through to Cincinnati from Louisville whenever the Illinois Central train arrives too late from New Orleans to make connections with B. & O. Southwestern train No. 16, which arrives in Cincinnati at noon daily.

Manager Eagleston received the following message from the manager of the Stone City opera house at Bedford this morning:

"The Flower of the Ranch" played here last night to a crowded house and gave best of satisfaction. It is good musical comedy, sixteen musical numbers with first class chorus and good principals; they deserve good business.

D. A. Kochenour, Capt. D. B. Vance, Will McPherson and F. C. Foster, as representatives of the various churches in Brownstown, have been appointed a committee to take the first steps in organizing in that town for the Men and Religion Forward Movement. They will appoint four more from each church to assist in pushing the organization.

LABOR PLANNING WAY OF DEFENSE

Enormous Fund Required to Meet Emergency.

UNION HEADS TO TALK IT OVER

A Conference of the Officers of the International Unions Will Be Called by President Lynch of the Printers' Union For the Purpose of Devising Ways and Means to Meet New Crisis In Toilers' Affairs.

Indianapolis, Feb. 15.—Within the next few days officers of international labor unions with headquarters in Indianapolis will hold a special meeting to discuss the indictments returned by the federal grand jury following its dynamite inquiry. James M. Lynch, president of the International Typographical union and head of the labor leaders' conference announces that he will arrange immediately for a meeting of international union heads.

Mr. Lynch did not forecast the action of the conference of labor leaders, but said it probably would be the desire of the various international union officers to talk over the indictments. The conference of labor heads with headquarters here was formed shortly after the arrest of J. J. McNamara and, following both his arrest and confession, issued statements of the attitude of the several international unions in the McNamara case.

It is believed that the arrests in the dynamiting case will inspire the conference to a similar action at this time. Former statements of the conference have deplored violence and condemned the McNamaras for the part they played in the dynamiting outrages.

That a fund will be asked of organized labor for the defense of the labor men indicted by the federal grand jury is the belief of most international labor union officers in Indianapolis. The iron workers' union has an emergency fund of about $40,000, but that that would not provide one-fourth the necessary funds is a belief based on the recent expenditures in the McNamara case.

The officers of international unions with headquarters in Indianapolis may take up this problem and may decide to appeal to the American Federation of Labor for voluntary subscriptions from organized labor's members. President Lynch declared he believed organized labor is bound to provide funds for the legal defense of its men indicted, assuming them innocent until proved guilty. He declared that organized labor should see to it that the men receive a fair and impartial trial, abiding by the result in the end if it be reached by fair and unprejudiced methods.

ICE PILED UP

The Biggest Gorge in Years Checks Flow of White River.

Hazleton, Ind., Feb. 15.—Every ferryboat between Decker and Mt. Carmel, on White river, is beached, the owners fearing their property will be swept away when the immense ice gorge at the C. & E. I. railway bridge at Decker breaks up. The ferryboat owners have been expecting the big mass of ice to crumble and move out of the river daily. Instead the jam has been getting tighter and larger. It now extends eight miles upstream and in many places is piled ten feet and more high.

At Johnson's Bend, five miles above Decker, the ice has stopped the river channel and has forced the flowing water to seek a temporary channel in a bayou which leads back to the river two miles below the bend.

The Body Unidentified.

Indianapolis, Feb. 15.—The body of an unidentified man was found frozen in the ice of White river, between the new and old Vandalia railroad bridges. He was, in the opinion of the coroner, a man fifty or sixty years old and above medium height. He was slightly bald and wore a short beard. His hair was dark. He does not answer the description of any men on the "lost" record at central police station.

Cow Ate Moldy Peas.

Washington, Ind., Feb. 15.—The entire family of Washington Reynolds, a farmer living near Washington, was stricken by ptomaine poisoning and the condition of two children is serious. Cream on rice was served at supper, the family eating freely. Investigation showed the cow belonging to the family had been eating moldy cow peas.

The Freel Murder Trial.

Newcastle, Ind., Feb. 15.—Judge Jackson has issued a special venire of fifty jurymen for the trial of Jesse Freel, to be tried next week for the murder of his young wife. It is believed Freel's attorneys will plead insanity for their client.

Guilty of Manslaughter.

Petersburg, Ind., Feb. 15.—The jury, reducing the charge from murder to manslaughter, brought in a verdict of guilty against Ford Grubb, accused of killing his father, William Grubb. The mother's trial will be called later in the term.

ITCHING HUMORS.

There Is Now a Way to Escape These Skin Torments.

Try This Remedy at Our Risk.

People sometimes say, "Well, that new remedy of yours, Saxon Salve, may cure recent cases of eczema, but I doubt if it will help me for I have had eczema for a long time."

The fact is, Saxon Salve was devised as much for chronic skin troubles as for acute cases, and it is equally effective, though usually the chronic cases are more stubborn.

Numbers of cases right around here could be cited, showing that Saxon Salve is exactly the remarkable soothing and curative remedy for skin diseases that we claim.

The itching is stopped in a few moments after the first application, and improvement is seen in a few days.

All humors and disorders of the skin whether scaly, crusted or in the very first stages, usually yield to Saxon Salve promptly. If it does not, in your case your money is returned. The Andrews Drug Co., Seymour, Ind.
